

Have you identified any new or emerging jobs in the horse industry?	Are there any existing jobs that could be recognised with qualifications or training e.g. branding?	What professional or para-professional horse industry services are hard to get where you live? e.g. farrier or trackwork rider? Please state your postcode.	What horse jobs do you find it hard to get information on?	If you could do some extra training to help you in your current job, change jobs or to perhaps gain some casual work or start a new business, what would that be?	Any other comments?
Open-Ended Response	Open-Ended Response	Open-Ended Response	Open-Ended Response	Open-Ended Response	Open-Ended Response
biosecurity advice	not all massage therapy, chiropractic etc have qualifications	horse specialist vets and limited farriers 5204	haven't ever tried	setting up a consultancy service
		5690 farrier, vet, vet supplies, trackwork rider, physio, instructors, saddlers, trainers, breakers, transporters, float sales & repairs etc etc etc	all except the racing industry! nothing but racing is ever considered as a horse industry job!	Instructor training that is NOT correspondence. saddlery fitting
saddlers - now that we are all sick of cheap imported gear, we are keen to get quality saddlery made but it is near on impossible	saddlery and harness making - not so much making saddles - but tack and repairs - bridles, stirrup leathers everything from leather	We have a lack of trained and qualified saddlers 3128	saddlery apprenticeships	saddlery training	I think it's time to reactivate the saddlery qualifications in australia I know that I am interested from a Victorian perspective - email (horsesa@horsesa.asn.au) as I would like to form a collection of people to get this qualification back onto the AQTF
I believe there are trends in jobs depending on social and 'fashion' trends. More people are becoming aware of wholistic horses and health which is creating more jobs such as qualified massage etc	99% of jobs in the equestrian industry- Anything involving contact with a horse. should have some level of training and or qualification.	5654 ANYTHING. We have no access to professional services. closest vet is 300k away. We are leaving the area due to the lack of services.	n/a	Ongoing training would benefit any area of the industry.	I've worked in the industry for about 15 years from low level stable hands to groom for a show team that competed nationally and was used for promotion of an international company. Lack of knowledge and skill is the biggest downfall in this industry. People work their way up through years of service not knowledge, skill or qualification. This is detrimental to the industry over all and in some cases lack of basic knowledge is detrimental to the horse and safety of the workers.
No, less if anything We went from one fulltime and some parttime staff to just the two of us doing everything	Horse trainers - no qualifications that I know of just word of mouth What is the situation with equine dentists?	Farriers Vets Someone to tend our horses and property if we wish to go away together, eg. Equitana or Competitions interstate 5155	Haven't looked	Business management and also training in using computers and IT re use of the internet
No	No	Dentist, chiro, bowen, farrier	most!!	property management & horse health
No	I feel that horse chiros' etc should be required to have more formal qualifications	farriers' of quality 5372	Not really tried to obtain extra info as I work in the horse industry and regularly hear word of mouth	I would like to obtain more knowledge re horse nutrition which is not brand based ie perhaps a certificate in same
fully qualified barefoot trimmers	Podiatry Diploma
A few. Horse breaking and education is much more popular now. As is massage, dentistry, chiropractors etc. Equissage has also given many people self employment.	Not sure.	Trackwork riding. Morphettville and Adelaide are overflowing with the good ones. The only places you can get are out Strath, Parafeild Gardens (and sometimes KI with a few others around the state). Dentistry is in high demand, as are vets.	Dentists and farriers to an extent. Massage and chiros too.	A massage / health / breeding / riding traineeship.
yes there seems to be an increase in natural methods, massage, bowen therapy and the likes.	I would loike to learn to freeze brand, but anuble to get training as this is increasing way to brand horses.	N/A sometinmes have to wait to get who you want.	often get emails from people want work or work experience, a register of people that are will to be put on the register would be good.	to get my EA intruction certificate, expensive and as I am working full time bit hard. Does not seem to be a well recongnise caree path.
a.i. technician	a.i. technician comes with qualification in the form of certificate. but no formal branding that i can find. never advertised as a job.	a.i. tech. stud work.	stud work	wish i could do a course in ultrasounding breeding mares but there is no formal training in this specific job. Vets have to do all the scanning.	